Maternity and newborn expenses are excluded; the policy does not cover obstetric or neonatal care.

Permanent exclusions include cosmetic surgery, obesity/weight-control, hazardous sports, and non-medical admissions, among others.

Temporary exclusions cover pre-existing disease treatment, specified disease waiting periods (e.g., cataract, hernia, joint replacement), and any illness within the first 30 days of policy start.

Claims can be filed cashless or by reimbursement; claim intimation must be within 24 hrs for emergencies and 48 hrs for planned admissions, with settlement typically within 30 days.

The policy is renewable for life, with a 30-day grace period for premium payment and a moratorium of 60 continuous months after which claims are non-contestable except for fraud or permanent exclusions [S4].

No restoration benefit is available under this policy (the policy explicitly states it is not provided).

Optional add-ons (extra premium) are available but not detailed in the base policy summary.

(verify) The exact process for claim documentation and any additional required documents is not fully specified in the provided excerpts.

Premium vs coverage

Premium changes by +46% while 13 aspect(s) improve and 0 become weaker. Check whether the improved aspects matter for your family (e.g. no room-rent cap matters most in metro hospitals).

Switching risks

• Waiting periods (pre-existing, specified diseases, maternity) normally restart with a new policy. Under IRDAI portability rules you can ask for credit of the waiting period already served, usually only up to the previous sum insured - get this in writing before switching.

• Any accumulated no-claim / cumulative bonus on the current policy may not fully carry over.

• Do not let the current policy lapse until the new one is issued and the portability request is accepted (keep a gap-free continuity).

• For the increased part of the sum insured, waiting periods usually apply afresh.

AI explanation of the comparison

Where the proposed policy appears stronger

• Sum insured doubled to Rs 1,00,00,000 from Rs 5,00,000.

• Pre-existing disease waiting period cut from 48 months to 36 months.

• Co-payment removed (0 % vs 10 %).

• No cap on room rent or ICU charges - you can choose any room category except a suite.

• Only one disease sub-limit (Cataract) instead of four, so more coverage for other diseases.

• Exclusion count reduced from 18 to 17.

• Restoration benefit added - 100 % of base Sum Insured restored once per policy year if exhausted.

• Maternity cover introduced (up to Rs 50,000 normal, Rs 75,000 caesarean, two deliveries lifetime).

• Newborn cover added.

• Pre-hospitalisation period extended to 60 days (vs 30).

• Post-hospitalisation period extended to 180 days (vs 60).

• Coverage clarity score jumps from 27 to 83.

Where the proposed policy needs caution / appears weaker

• Annual premium rises from Rs 14,80,000 to Rs 21,60,000.

• Domiciliary care now covered (previously not) - this is an addition, not a downgrade.

• No-claim bonus now offers 50 % of base Sum Insured per claim-free year up to 100 % (higher than 10 % of Sum Insured up to 50 % in current).

• Maternity waiting period is 24 months, which is a new restriction.

• Maternity benefit limited to two deliveries lifetime.

• Newborn cover is limited to the policy terms (not a downgrade).

• OPD coverage removed (previously yes).

• No cap on room rent/ICU may lead to higher out-of-pocket costs if you choose premium rooms.

Unclear points that must be verified

• Exact limits for ICU and room rent in the proposed policy (only “no capping” stated).

• Whether the restoration benefit applies to all claims or only specific types.

• Details of the “domiciliary covered” benefit (extent, limits).

• Whether the “no-claim bonus” of 50 % is cumulative or capped at 100 % of base Sum Insured.

• Clarification on the “opd_covered” field being false - does this mean no OPD coverage at all?

• Specifics of the “maternity_details” - e.g., whether the 24-month waiting period applies to both deliveries.

Premium vs coverage

The premium increases by Rs 6,80,000 (from Rs 14,80,000 to Rs 21,60,000). This increase is linked to several meaningful coverage changes: higher sum insured, removal of co-payment, extended pre- and post-hospitalisation periods, added restoration benefit, and inclusion of maternity and newborn cover. The premium rise reflects these expanded benefits, but the exact cost-benefit ratio depends on your expected medical usage.

Switching risks

• Waiting periods: The pre-existing disease waiting period shortens (48 -> 36 months), but maternity waiting period is introduced (24 months).

• Loss of continuity benefits: The current policy has a 30-day initial waiting period; the proposed policy keeps this same period.

• Portability conditions: Both policies mention portability, but the proposed policy adds domiciliary coverage, which may affect portability terms.

• New exclusions or limits: The proposed policy removes one exclusion but introduces a new limitation on maternity deliveries (two lifetime).

Your policy questions (from this session)

Q: Is co-payment applicable in this policy?

Yes, this policy does not require a co-payment in most cases.

• No co-payment is charged regardless of the insured’s age.

• A 15 % co-payment applies only if treatment is received in a Zone A city while the premium was paid for a Zone B city.

[S1]

Verify: confirm with the insurer whether the “Zone A” and “Zone B” classification still applies to your hospital choice.

Sources: [S1] Proposed policy, p.2, § 2.1 Co-payment; [S2] Proposed policy, p.2, § SECTION C - CO-PAYMENT AND SUB-LIMITS; [S3] Proposed policy, p.1, § SECTION A - DEFINITIONS

Q: Is room rent capped?

Room rent is not capped - you can choose any room category (except a suite) and the insurer will pay the actual room rent charged by the hospital.

Key details

• No cap on room rent.

• ICU/ICCU charges are payable at actuals up to the Sum Insured.

• Room rent is defined as the amount charged by a hospital for room and boarding expenses, including associated medical expenses.

[Verify: Confirm with the insurer that “no capping” applies to all room categories and that the actual room rent will be reimbursed up to the Sum Insured.]

Sources: [S1] Proposed policy, p.1, § 1.2 Room Rent and ICU Charges; [S2] Proposed policy, p.1, § SECTION A - DEFINITIONS; [S3] Proposed policy, p.2, § SECTION C - CO-PAYMENT AND SUB-LIMITS

Q: What is the waiting period for pre-existing diseases?

The policy does not cover treatment of a pre-existing disease for the first 36 months after you start the first policy with this insurer.

Key details

• Pre-existing disease treatment is excluded until 36 months of continuous coverage after the first policy start date. [S1]

• Other specified conditions (e.g., cataract, hernia, etc.) have a 24-month waiting period. [S2]

• Any illness within the first 30 days of the policy is excluded, except for accident-related claims. [S3]

Verify: Confirm with the insurer that the 36-month waiting period applies to all pre-existing diseases and that no additional exclusions or extensions apply.

Q: Should I switch to this policy?

CoverWise does not make buy / switch / cancel decisions. Here is what the document says so you can discuss it with a licensed advisor:

Short answer:

The policy offers a good family floater cover with no co-payment (except for Zone A treatment) and can be renewed for life, but you should check if the sum insured and renewal terms meet your needs and confirm any exclusions or waiting periods that may apply.

Key details

• Sum insured: Rs 10,00,000 for 2 adults + 1 child (family floater) [S2].

• Annual premium: Rs 21,600 (incl. GST) for a 1-year term [S2].

• Renewal: Policy can be renewed for life; renewal will not be denied if a claim was made, except for fraud or misrepresentation [S3].

• Co-payment: No co-payment unless treatment is in a Zone A city while the premium was paid for Zone B, then a 15 % co-payment applies [S4].

• Portability: You can port the policy to another insurer 15 days before renewal; credit for waiting periods already served will be given up to the existing sum insured [S1].

• Moratorium: After 60 continuous months of coverage, the policy and claims are non-contestable except for fraud or permanent exclusions [S5].

What to ask the insurer / advisor

• Are there any specific waiting periods for pre-existing conditions or for the child?

• What are the permanent exclusions listed in the policy?

• How does the policy handle maternity or pregnancy coverage for the child?

• Are there any additional benefits (e.g., critical illness riders) that can be added?

• What is the process and cost for adding the spouse or child to the policy if not already covered?

Verify:

Confirm the exact waiting periods, permanent exclusions, and any additional riders or benefits that may be relevant to your family’s health needs.
